

Global Principles for Sustainable Securities Lending ROSE Centre

Research progress note

The Global PSSSL Research Opportunities for Sustainable Economy (ROSE) Centre is pleased to have cooperated with the Center for the Study of Financial Market Evolution (CSFME) on a feasibility study of a cross-border data repository to detect suspicious activity in securities lending.

PGGM has agreed to support this CSFME-led research through the Global PSSSL framework (specifically, Principle 3 (Transparency), Principle 2 (Stakeholder Involvement, inclusion and diversity), and Principle 8 (Innovation and digitalisation)).

Global PSSSL is delighted to collaborate with stakeholders from the United States and Europe in a truly global initiative to improve practices in securities lending.

For more information about:
CSFME, see: <https://csfme.org/>
PGGM, see: <https://www.pggm.nl/en/>

The progress report was issued by the Global PSSSL Secretariat following internal meetings and communications.